COVID-19-related updates:

Yale University will likely adopt a hybrid approach for summer 2021 comprising a mix of in-person and online module options.

Due to the fluid situation of the COVID-19 pandemic and uncertainty regarding international travel in the months ahead, students are strongly encouraged to choose the remote/online option for summer 2021. Please note some Faculties (including School of Computing) will not approve module mapping for remote/online courses. Please check with your home Faculty Dean’s Office to determine if module mapping can be approved for remote/online courses before applying to the partner university.

Students’ ability to travel to the USA for summer 2021 will be determined by the host country’s travel policies as well as the latest travel advice from Singapore authorities. In the event Singapore authorities advise against non-essential travel to the USA for summer 2021, students will not be able to travel to the USA for their summer programmes. Students who proceed with the in-person option acknowledge the risks associated. NUS will not be responsible for any lost deposits or expenses (including but not limited to programme/tuition fees, air tickets, housing deposits, meal plans and/or non-academic student fees) associated with travel disruptions. You are advised NOT to make any financial commitments particularly those which are non-refundable until you are certain that travel is possible. You will be fully responsible for any travel expenses, quarantine accommodation costs, COVID-19 tests or other costs related to the measures imposed at that point of time, both in the USA and Singapore.

3 NUS Financial Aid

Financial Aid options will not be available for programmes/classes that are conducted fully online. If programmes are hybrid, only on-site participation would qualify a student for financial aid. If a physical/on-site programme switches to fully online before the commencement of the programme, NUS reserves the right to adjust or retract the financial aid package.
