NUS-IRB News Alerts

09 October 2013

The NUS-IRB hopes to keep our researchers updated on the latest ethical issues and problems occurring around the world. This will help us keep abreast of international best practices to ensure that research done in Singapore will be well accepted, scientifically and ethically. These news alerts will be issued as and when incidents are reported.

NUS-Institutional Review Board’s New Website

In conjunction with the 10th anniversary of the NUS Institutional Review Board (NUS-IRB), we are pleased to announce the release of our new website, which has been designed to be more informative and user-friendly.

Our new website can be accessed at: http://www.nus.edu.sg/irb.

Do check out some of our new features below:

1. Home page

- For researchers new to the IRB application process, click on our links to Submission Instructions and Review Timelines.
- The IRB’s Guidelines are easily accessible through our Guidelines page.
2. Easy access to IRB Forms and Guidelines

- You can download various IRB application forms via the (1) left margin; (2) header drop-down links; and (3) links on the page body.
- This is also the same for the IRB’s Guidelines page.
- Please note that the Forms and IRB’s Guidelines are accessible only via the NUS intranet. For non-NUS researchers, please contact us at irb@nus.edu.sg.

3. Training page

- Find out more about the Collaborative Institutional Training Initiative (CITI) and DPRT’s circular on CITI training for NUS biomedical researchers.
4. Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ) page

We hope that you will enjoy browsing our new website, and that it will be an asset in your IRB application process!

Please contact the IRB Secretariat at 6516 4311 or 6516 7359 or email at irb@nus.edu.sg if you require further assistance or information.

About NUS-IRB

NUS Institutional Review Board (NUS-IRB) was established on 1st September 2003. This Board (also referred to as the Research Ethics Committee in some countries) will review, approve and monitor the ethical aspects of all NUS research projects that involve human subjects and human tissues/cells/data. Its main objective is to protect the rights and welfare of human research subjects in research activities conducted by NUS staff, researchers and students.
