What is this programme about?

Operated by the nonprofit Institute for Shipboard Education (ISE) and sponsored through the University of Colorado, Semester at Sea's worldwide itineraries offer rigorous coursework coupled with field assignments and service learning in over 10 international destinations, and the skills necessary to compete in today's rapidly globalizing world.
When does the programme take place

NUS students from all faculties have the option to participating the following voyages:

- Fall (14-15 weeks) – September to December
- Spring (14-15 weeks) January to mid-April

Students will be required to apply to their respective faculties for Leave of Absence (LOA) for the voyage. Participants wishing to transfer the credits back to NUS will be required to pay NUS tuition fees.
How much does it cost?

The programme fee includes tuition, housing, all meals aboard to the ship, all academically field labs, residential student services and advisement and assistance by ISE student services.
