1 Faculty's Commitment

Introduction

Inspirational life-affirming music-making is at the heart of who we are and what we do at the Yong Siew Toh Conservatory of Music, National University of Singapore. Centred in one of the world's most dynamic countries, we believe we are uniquely placed to offer a distinct and powerful contemporary Asian voice.

Founded in 2003, YST has quickly established a reputation as Asia's most exciting international conservatory and one of the world's most distinctive. Keenly focused on nurturing identity as a driver for excellence, we are primarily an undergraduate institution, offering full financial support for all our 220 BMus students with support from the Yong Loo Lin Trust and other donors. Our Bachelor of Music programme offers specialisations in instrumental performance, voice, composition, Audio Arts & Science, as well as Music & Society and Music, Collaboration & Production.

In addition, we host a vibrant performance calendar with around 200 concerts annually, featuring students and faculty alongside international artists and ensembles. Our community engagement and professional integration programme has extensive local, regional and global reach. Students are supported to find their own distinctive pathways into the world through exchanges, festivals, competitions and projects. More broadly, we are part of a range of international networks and partnerships, which further enhance the educational experience and ensure that YST continues to evolve. Our Second Majors, NUS-facing Minor and modules, and our continuing education and Young Artist programmes open up additional avenues for musical engagement. We are also proud to contribute to Singapore's artistic landscape by supporting international and local festivals.

At the core of our endeavours is our guiding principle, "Listen in New Light". Listening is our focal point connecting past, present and future, as we continue to give music richer resonance.

Educational Philosophy

We seek to:

- Nurture artistic identity as a driver and compass for excellence;
- Engage the broader ecosystem and give music greater resonance;
- Develop musicians with well-rounded capabilities in performance, composition, production and engagement; and
- Make music creatively, convincingly, collaboratively and courageously.

3 Undergraduate Education

Bachelor of Music (Honours)

The Conservatory offers the Bachelor of Music (Honours) degree, with majors in Performance (Piano and Orchestral Instruments), Composition, Recordings Arts and Sciences and Voice. This is a four-year full-time music degree programme focusing particularly on music performance with appropriate supporting academic studies. The Conservatory also offers the Joint Bachelor of Music Degree programme with the Peabody Institute at the Johns Hopkins University (JHU). This is the first and only international undergraduate conservatory music programme of its kind in the world.

In this four-year (8 semester) joint degree programme, students will attend classes at both YSTCM in Singapore and the Peabody Institute, Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore Maryland USA, with 5 semesters spent at YSTCM and three semesters at Peabody. Conservatory graduates can enter advanced programmes in music, or in any other field requiring the completion of an earned Bachelor's degree as a prerequisite.

3.1 Degrees Offered

Bachelor of Music (Honours) degree

A faculty of the National University of Singapore, the Yong Siew Toh Conservatory of Music offers the Bachelor of Music (Honours) degree with 18 majors in Performance, (Piano, Orchestral Instruments and Voice), Composition, and Audio Arts and Sciences.

This is a four-year, full-time undergraduate degree programme with a strong focus on music performance and supporting music academic modules. General education and elective modules allow students to receive a holistic music education at the Conservatory.

In conjunction with the Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore, the Conservatory also offers a Joint Bachelor of Music Degree for a small number of selected students in both institutions. Conservatory students spend 5 semesters at the Conservatory and 3 semesters at Peabody.

Second Major in Audio Arts and Sciences and access to Major Study modules

The Conservatory also offers the Second Major in Audio Arts & Sciences by combining courses in recording arts with science and engineering. In conjunction with a primary ("first") major, this second major aims to equip students from various faculties with a strong foundation and knowledge in key advanced topics in Audio Arts and Sciences. This emphasis is to better prepare them for career opportunities in engineering and related fields, focused on development of audio and music technologies.

Beginning from AY2018/2019, a small number of NUS students from other faculties may be able to access undergraduate major study areas at the Conservatory. This option is already available in relation to Audio Arts and Sciences, but the change will offer possible opportunities in relation to all performance areas and to composition. The audition requirements and standards of performance will be equivalent to that of full-time Conservatory students.

Minor in Music and Society

Available to NUS students from Semester 1 AY2018/2019, the YST Conservatory will offer a new Minor in Music & Society that specifically focuses on music's societal dimensions. Students will appreciate the broad disciplinary outreach in the minor programme that encompasses the study of music in potential social, political, economic and aesthetic contexts.

Students must complete a minimum of 24 modular credits (MCs) in the following:

A) Compulsory Core Modules (8MCs)

i) One Analysis and Composition module(4MCs)

expanding their comprehension of orchestral literature and orchestral audition skills. The student will be encouraged to explore opportunities (such as music festivals, Singapore Symphony's substitute-list audition, etc.) outside of YSTCM, and should begin to plan for their musical life after graduation. Literature in the first semester will focus on studies, etudes, and orchestral excerpts with an emphasis on ensemble playing. In the first semester, the student should also begin planning and preparation for their junior recital. The second semester will focus on the refinement of the junior recital, including advanced techniques on solo recital performance practice.

The student will be given the tools needed for independent artistic development and will be encouraged to pursue their individual artistry, in solo, chamber, and orchestral contexts. Particular concentration should be given to preparation of the senior recital, and towards audition preparation for professional orchestral auditions and graduate degree programs. Literature in the first semester will focus on studies, etudes, and orchestral excerpts with an emphasis on ensemble playing. In the first semester, the student should also begin planning and preparation for their senior recital. B16. COMPOSITION STUDIES - Undergraduate and Graduate Requirements

BMus and MMus composition students are required to compose 2 works each semester under the supervision of their studio teachers. During their studies, students are expected to compose for instrumentations ranging from solos to large ensembles, including orchestra. They should explore the various compositional approaches found in contemporary music but also use their semesterly projects as a means to discover and explore their own compositional interests. Students are encouraged to incorporate traditional, folk and other instruments and ensembles available in the region, as well as computer music and live electronics in their compositions. Non traditional performance/presentation media (installations, interactive sound works, online media, etc.) are also encouraged, where appropriate to the student's interests and goals. In consultation with their studio teacher, students determine which instrumentations they will address each semester. Students are encouraged to use reading and performance opportunities that arise as avenues to address the above requirements.

Major study involves additional requirements including attendance at weekly composition seminars and other composition-focused events, musicianship skills training, and the Annual Reflection. Instructors may also assign readings, analyses, journal writing, etc. as a way to support your composition study. These will form part of your weekly assessment grade.

In the final year of study, composition students (BMus 4 and MMus 2) undertake a Final Year Project. An overview can be found below, but students should also consult the Student Guide to the YSTCM Composition Programme for complete details. This document is available from the programme directly.

Performance Requirements:

Composition students are expected to have at least one performance (or presentation, in case of installation pieces or other electroacoustic media not involving live performance) of their composed works each semester, except for the 1st year students in their first semester. There are a number of opportunities organized by the programme each year. Students are encouraged to take advantage of these. They may also organize performances/presentations of their works on their own in consultation with their studio teachers or mentors. Students should consult their major study teacher, mentor, or the Assistant Dean of Composition and Contemporary Music to determine an suitable performance opportunity (noon recital, SoundBites, etc.).

Jury Requirements:

At the end of each semester, students are required to submit a portfolio of their works for jury grading. For BMus Years 1-3 and MMus Year 1, the deadline for the submission of the composition portfolio is the Monday of Exam Week 1 by 12noon. For BMus Year 4 and MMus Year 2, the deadline for submission of the portfolio is one week prior to the presentation of their FYP by 12noon. All portfolios are to be submitted to the Conservatory Academic Affairs Office. Late submissions will incur a penalty of half a letter grade per day. Guidelines for submitting the composition portfolio are listed below.

Submission of Composition Portfolio:

Students must follow the guidelines below when submitting their portfolios at the end of each semester for evaluation. If there are further questions concerning the submission of the portfolio, please direct them to your studio teacher.

- Music must be presented to the highest standards possible. Handwritten scores should be very clearly copied, computer-notated scores should be of publishable quality, electro-acoustic compositions should be documented with a high quality recording and include full source code (MaxMSP patch, Csound file, etc.).
- Audio and/or video recordings of the works submitted in the portfolio must be included. Recordings from Noon Recitals, Soundbites, or other YST events should be included, if available. Otherwise, recordings can be MIDI realizations or readings recorded informally. Works involving indeterminate notation or improvisation must be accompanied by a recording that represents an accurate realization.
- A clear title page must be on the cover of each work.
- Programme notes must be included with each work detailing the ideas and motivations of the piece. These need not be extensive - 150 to 300 words for each work are appropriate.
- All scores including transposing instruments must clearly indicate if they are C scores or transposed scores.
- Students are to keep their own copies of the works submitted in the portfolio.
- In some cases, students may include works written for other composition-related course such as Computer Music or Orchestration. However, this is generally not possible. Students wanting to do this should consult with their classroom and major study teachers before beginning the project. The most important factor is how substantially the composition will be worked on under the major study teacher during weekly lessons.

For BMus Years 1-3 and MMus Year 1:

- Student portfolios must consist of two (2) works (scores and recordings) written under the supervision of your composition teacher in the respective semester. One (1) hard copy and one (1) soft copy (in PDF and MP3) of each work is required. Soft copies submissions should be uploaded to the IVLE Composer Portfolio module as a single compressed (ZIP) file.

For students submitting their Final Year Projects:

- Student portfolios must consist of all works (scores and recordings) written under the supervision of your composition teacher and approved for the FYP. Three (3) hard copies and one (1) soft copy (in PDF and MP3) of each work is required. Soft copies submissions should be uploaded to the IVLE Composer Portfolio module as a single compressed (ZIP) file.

Submitted portfolios that do not meet the above guidelines will be returned as incomplete, and may be subject to late submission penalty.

Assessment and Grading

For BMus Years 1-3 and MMus Year 1:

Semester 1: Weekly Assessment (60%); Portfolio (40%)

Semester 2: Weekly Assessment (40%); Portfolio (60%)

For BMus Year 4 and MMus Year 2:

To accommodate a yearlong composition project, the assessment weighting in year 4 is different from that in years 1-3. The assessment weighting for Year 4 is as follows:

Semester 1 - Weekly Assessment (100%)

Semester 2 - Final Year Project (100%)

Final Year Project

Introduction

Students in many majors complete a capstone project in the final year of their degree programme that acts as a culminating learning activity. For BMus and MMus composition students at YSTCM the capstone project is the Final Year Project (FYP). It is an opportunity for students to further the trajectory of interests developed during their studio studies and related compositional activities undertaken at the Conservatory in their first three years. The specific format, content, and nature of the FYP are open. It could include a portfolio of original compositions, a single large-scale work, a sound or multimedia installation, or another composition-related project. The project should consist of a minimum of 25 minutes of music. It must be original material and not include work that has been previously assessed.

Students should develop their FYP in close consultation with their studio teacher. Students propose their Final Year Projects to the composition department, which must approve it. Since proposals may require some revisions, it is important that students follow the FYP proposal deadline. If there are any required revisions, the student will be advised on nature of the necessary revisions and informed of a revision deadline. We aim to have approval for all FYPs by end of the semester in which it is submitted so that students can begin working on their FYP during the semester holidays (May-July).

The FYP is not an additional project on top of other semesterly major study requirements. Instead, it is the focus of major study during the final year at YSTCM. Through your weekly lessons, you will receive mentoring on the compositions during their development as well as preparation for your presentation, review of portfolio, etc.

Student should recognize that the FYP has a few components. In addition to completing the composition(s), each composition must be performed and recorded. Once works are performed and recorded, a portfolio must be submitted that includes the following for each work: 1) Score (where applicable); 2) Programme Notes; 3) Recording; and 4) Other relevant materials (Max patches, Arduino sketches, floor plans, circuit diagrams/schematics, etc.). Finally, at the end of the academic year, the student offers a public presentation on the compositions in the FYP.

The Final Year Project is a requirement for graduation. In addition, students are required to attain a minimum of a C grade in their Final Year Project to pass. Students who fail to attain the minimum grade must reschedule their FYP for the following semester.

The assessment weightage for the FYP is as follows: 70% Portfolio, 10% Performance, and 20% Presentation.

Guidelines for FYP Proposal

You should develop your FYP in consultation with your major study teacher. Your FYP proposal should be specific. It should address the following:

1. Background on what you see as important, influential aspects of your learning during your BMus studies and what compositional interests they inspired;
2. A description of how these interests have found a way into your music so far;
3. A description of how you will further explore these interests in the works you propose for your FYP;
4. A list of proposed works (instrumentation and proposed duration).

It will most likely be sensible to put each of these parts of your proposal in a separate paragraph.

You should submit your proposal by Monday, Mid-Semester Break in your Year 3, Semester 2 (for BMus students) or Year 1, Semester 2 (for MMus students), respectively. (In AY2016-17 that date is 20 February 2017). Please submit it in PDF to the Assistant Dean, Composition and Contemporary Music (peteredwards@nullnus.edu.sg) and copy your major study instructor.

Performances

All works in an FYP must receive performances by the end of the final semester of study. For works not using traditional performance settings (installations, for instance) the term “performance” can be broadly defined. Performances can take place on conservatory events, such as noon recitals, SoundBites, OpusNovus concerts, and the annual senior composition recital. If these events do not fit the nature of the project, students are encouraged to create events that do. In addition, students are encouraged to identify performance opportunities outside of the conservatory, working with ensembles and/or presenters both locally and internationally. Regardless of where performances take place, they must be recorded. A high-quality audio or video recording of each work is required as part of the FYP portfolio.

Presentation

In addition to the submission of the FYP portfolio, students are required to give a 60 minute presentation (45 mins presentation + 15 mins Q&A) on their FYP at the end of semester 2. The presentation should provide relevant analysis of the FYP works as well as clearly demonstrate the relationship between technical approaches and artistic goals. The FYP Presentation will be held during Exam Week 1. Students will be notified by the Academic Affairs Office on the time and date of the presentation.

VOICE DEPARTMENT

B17. VOCAL STUDIES

First Year (Voice)

Students will be required to prepare a minimum of 8-10 selections (songs or arias) each semester and will be expected to perform most of these from memory in masterclass and other settings. There will be a departmental Jury at the end of the second semester where the student will be expected to perform (memorized) 10 - 15 minutes of music selected from the semester 2 repertoire list. During year 1 students are expected to focus on repertoire in Italian and English. The repertoire must be approved by the voice faculty and be of the appropriate level of difficulty for this year.

Second Year (Voice)

Students will be required to prepare a minimum of 8-10 selections (songs or arias) each semester and will be expected to perform most of these from memory in masterclass and other settings. There will be a departmental Jury at the end of the second semester where the student will be expected to perform (memorized) 15 - 20 minutes of music selected from the semester 2 repertoire list. During year 2 students are expected to focus on repertoire in Italian, English and either German or French. The repertoire must be approved by the voice faculty and be of the appropriate level of difficulty for this year.

Third Year (Voice)

Junior Recital in Voice:

Presented at the end of the first semester of the Junior year, students will be required to perform 20 - 30 minutes of music in a wide variety of styles and in languages including Italian, English and either German or French. This recital may be presented as a joint recital with another voice major, in which case the solo portion of the concert must still equal 20 - 30 minutes of music. Repertoire selected must be approved by the voice faculty and must be of a level which demonstrates significant technical and musical skills representative of Year 3 voice majors.

Fourth Year (Voice)

Senior Recital in Voice:

Presented at the end of the Senior year, students will be required to perform a full-length recital (45 - 55 minutes of music) in a wide variety of styles and in languages including Italian, English, German and French. Students may petition the Head of Vocal Studies to present a thematic, chamber music or other recital and, based upon the students' individual background and studies, this may be allowed. Repertoire selected must be approved by the voice faculty and must be of a level which demonstrates significant technical and musical skills representative of Year 4 voice majors.

3.2.2.3 Second Major in Audio Arts and Sciences

In line with the University's initiative to introduce Double Major Programmes in NUS, the Yong Siew Toh Conservatory of Music (YSTCM) offers a Second Major in Audio Arts and Sciences by combining courses in recording arts with the sciences and engineering. In conjunction with their primary major, this second major programme aims to equip students from various schools/faculties with a strong foundation as well as knowledge in key advanced topics in the burgeoning area of audio arts and sciences, and thus better prepare them for career opportunities in engineering and related fields focused on development of audio and music technologies.

Structure of the Second Major

a. In line with University guidelines, the second major will require students to complete 48 MCs (12 modules) within the following structure:

1. Completion of the following five compulsory modules:
Foundational Core Modules:
MUA1170 Fundamentals of Music Production and Recording 1
MUA1171 Fundamentals of Music Production and Recording 2
MUA2170 Multitrack Recording 1
MUA2173 Room Acoustics
MUA1172 Critical Listening 1
2. Completion of the following two Audio Programme Post-Production modules:
MUA3170 Audio Postproduction 1
MUA4170 Audio Postproduction 2
3. Completion of the following five new modules which are project-based:
MUA2175 AAS Project 1
MUA2176 AAS Project 2
MUA3175 AAS Project 3
MUA4175 AAS Project 4
MUA4176 AAS Final Project
4. At most two modules of the Second Major may be double-counted with other programmes.

b. The plan is to continue to accept a small intake size of 2-4 students for each cohort year.

c. Entry into the programme would be based on:

application by students to YST at the end of their first year of study.
a live audition to be conducted whenever deemed necessary

d. Students are advised begin this Second Major in Year 2 Semester 1, as it is planned for completion over six semesters with a strict semestral schedule for module offerings.

3.2.2.4 Joint Degree Programme

In conjunction with The Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore, Maryland, USA, the Yong Siew Toh Conservatory of Music offers a Joint Bachelor of Music Degree for a small number of selected students at both institutions. Of the 8 semesters in the BMus, Conservatory students spend 5 semesters at the Yong Siew Toh Conservatory and 3 semesters at Peabody. Applicants are required to have a combined CAP score of at least 4.1 at the end of their first year of study. In addition, students must demonstrate excellent English language skills as well as with the recommendation of their major study teacher. Incoming first-year students who are interested in the Joint Degree programme should contact the Conservatory Academic Affairs Office as soon as possible during their first year of study at the Conservatory.

Application for the Joint Degree Programme will be available in Semester 1 of the academic year.

If students decide that they do not wish to continue in the Joint Degree Programme at the end of Semester 1 of their second year, they will have the option to return to the normal programme of study at their home institution, with the “semester away” credited as an exchange semester.

Candidates will follow the rules and regulations of both the host and home institutions relating to student conduct during their periods of candidature at each location, unless the Joint Degree Committee has granted prior approval of alternative arrangements.

Continuation on the Joint Degree Programme will be subject to the criteria and regulations of the institution where the student is currently resident and supervised by the Joint Degree Committee. Students must maintain a minimum CAP of 4.0 during their enrolment in the Joint Degree Programme in order to continue on the programme.

Withdrawal from the Joint Degree Programme will follow the home institution’s process. If a student withdraws from the Joint Degree Programme, the home institution will notify the host institution.

A student’s termination from the programme must be agreed upon by the Joint Degree Committee, as well as the home and host institutions.

Students who complete the programme successfully will be conferred the Bachelor of Music “NUS-Peabody Conservatory of Music, Johns Hopkins University Joint Degree Programme”. Students will have their degree conferred jointly by the home and host institutions, but will have their degree presented in the home institution.

3.2.3 Graduation Requirements

Students must read and pass a minimum of 160 MCs before they can be awarded the Bachelor of Music (Honours) degree of the University. All modules taken within the Conservatory must be graded. Upon completing all necessary course requirements, students may be awarded a B.Mus. degree classified as follows:

- First Class Honours
- Second Class Honours (Upper Division)
- Second Class Honours (Lower Division)
- Third Class Honours
- Pass

HONOURS DEGREE CLASSIFICATION	CAP CUT-OFFS
Honours (Highest Distinction)	4.50 & above
Honours (Distinction)	4.00 - 4.49
Honours (Merit)	3.50 - 3.99
Honours	3.00 - 3.49
Pass	2.00 - 2.99

The maximum period of candidature for the Bachelor of Music programme is five years. In addition to satisfying all degree requirements, students are expected to resolve any and all outstanding charges of misconduct and violations of academic ethics with the Academic Office in order to be approved for graduation.

3.2.4 Leave of Absence

Students must apply for Leave of Absence if they expect to be absent from more than one class. The request needs to be supported with relevant medical documents or letters of invitation (in the case of external engagements). These students MUST seek the approval from the Dean of the Conservatory or they will be regarded as being absent without permission and are liable to be withdrawn from school and/or lose entitlement to scholarship. Students should apply to the Dean giving sufficient advance notice wherever possible.

Students can now submit their applications online via Conservatory's website.

Undergraduate students on leave of absence for more than one semester must apply to the Conservatory Admissions and Academic Office for re-admission and certification of previously earned credits toward the degree or diploma programme. This process may include re-auditioning and placement tests in specific areas.

Please refer to University's Leave of Absence for more details on leave application:

<http://www.nus.edu.sg/registrar/adminpolicy/LOA.html>

3.2.5 Grading System and Regulations

Students are awarded letter grades for the modules read at the Conservatory. The Cumulative Average Point (CAP) is the weighted average grade point of the letter grades of all the modules taken by the students. The grade point for each grade is as follows:

GRADE POINT
A+	5.0
A-	4.5
B+	4.0
B	3.5
B-	3.0
C+	2.5
C	2.0
D+	1.5
F	0.0

$CAP = \frac{\text{Sum (module grade point x modular credits for the module)}}{\text{Sum (modular credits)}}$

Where the module receives no modular credits, non-credit designations are given:

S Satisfactory

U Unsatisfactory

Please refer to the Section "Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory Option/Grade-Free 1st SEM for more information

3.2.5.2 Examination Process and Review of Results

3.2.5.3 Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory Option/Grade-Free 1st SEM

3.2.5.4 Special Consideration During Examination

3.2.5.1 Academic Warning and Dismissal

CAP for Continuation and Graduation

For students admitted before AY2016/2017:

To graduate, an undergraduate student must have a minimum CAP of 2.00. To remain in good academic standing, and to continue in an undergraduate programme of study, a student may not have:

CAP below 2.00 (but ≥ 1.50) for three consecutive semesters; or CAP below 1.50 for two consecutive semesters.

For any semester in which the student's CAP falls below 2.00 (but ≥ 1.50), that student will be issued an academic warning. If, in the following semester, the student's CAP again falls below 2.00, s/he will be placed on probation. If the student's CAP remains below 2.00 for the third consecutive semester, the student will be issued a letter of dismissal by the Registrar and denied re-admission.

For students whose CAP falls below 1.50 for two consecutive semesters, they will be placed on probation for the first semester, followed by dismissal in the second semester.

For students admitted from AY2016/2017 onwards:

To graduate, an undergraduate student must have a minimum CAP of 2.00. To remain in good academic standing, and to continue in an undergraduate programme of study, a student may not have CAP below 2.00 for two consecutive semesters.

For any semester in which the student's CAP falls below 2.00, s/he will be placed on probation. If the student's CAP remains below 2.00 for the second consecutive semester, the student will be issued a letter of dismissal by the Registrar and denied re-admission.

A dismissed student may submit an appeal if there are extenuating circumstances, to the relevant Faculty/Department within two calendar weeks of the last day of the release of each semester's examination results. Normally every student is allowed only one such appeal per candidature. If the appeal is rejected, the student will not be re-admitted. If the outcome of the appeal is positive, the student will be given one semester in which to achieve the minimum CAP required for continuation and graduation.

3.2.5.2 Examination Process and Review of Results

Continuous assessment (CA) and examination serve different pedagogical needs. Examination serves primarily to assess a student's understanding of the subject matter, whereas CA plays in addition a formative role in educational terms. For this reason, unlike examination scripts which are not returned to students, CA is returned to students with comments and/or discussion if appropriate, so that they may improve on their work. For many modules, CA constitutes a significant percentage of the final grade.

After the release of examination results, students may request a review through the Department. This review will verify whether the examination script has been marked completely and that all marks (including CA) have been correctly transmitted to the Board of Examiners. The review will not involve marking an examination script a second time. To do so at this juncture would be out of context with no relative comparison with the rest of the class. In order to maintain consistency of assessment for all students, the University therefore does not allow re-marking unless certain parts of the answer were not taken into account in the original assessment. In addition, the University reserves the right to review current students' results at any time and make revisions to these results in accordance with NUS' guidelines and policies. These reviews may arise from audit on past semesters' results or routine checks and reviews conducted by faculties during the semester. There will however be no adjustment of results once a degree has been conferred. A S$10 charge is imposed to deter frivolous requests to review examination results. It also goes towards defraying the administrative cost for such reviews.

3.2.5.3 Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory Option/Grade-Free Scheme

SATISFACTORY/UNSATISFACTORY OPTION AND THE GRADE-FREE FIRST SEMESTER

For Students Admitted from AY 2014/2015 and AY 2015/2016

Under the S/U mechanism, letter grades are assigned to modules. Students may choose to retain the letter grade and have it factored into the computation of their Cumulative Average Point (CAP), or choose to exercise the S/U option on a module, in which case the letter grade will not be shown on the transcript nor computed towards the CAP. An 'S' grade is assigned if a student receives a 'C' grade or above for the module. Conversely, students will receive a 'U' if the grade obtained is lower than a 'C' grade. Students will receive credits towards the degree only if they attain a 'Satisfactory' (S) grade.

For students admitted from AY2014/2015 and AY 2015/2016, up to 32 MCs may be taken on an S/U basis, which may be exercised

- during the student's first semester, for up to 20 MCs; and
- any time during a student's candidature, for up to 12 MCs.

Once an 'S' or 'U' grade is assigned to a module, it will count towards the 32-MC limit that can be taken on an S/U basis.

The S/U option will apply to all Level 1000 modules (with or without pre-requisites) and Level 2000 modules without other NUS modules as pre-requisites, unless otherwise stipulated by the Faculties/Departments.

The S/U declaration exercise will be conducted upon the release of examination results and will end by the stipulated deadline, which will be announced each semester. Students will exercise their S/U option during this period for any module that permits the S/U option. Thereafter, the student's decision will be considered final.

The Grade-free First Semester scheme, in the form of Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory (S/U) option, aims to provide a supportive and enabling environment for NUS undergraduates to make a successful transition into the academic and social culture of university life. It serves to facilitate a transformation in students' mindsets towards grades and learning in the university setting, as well as enable students to leverage opportunities for a holistic education. The Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory (S/U) option is also intended to encourage students to pursue their intellectual interests, without undue concern that exploring a new subject area may adversely affect their CAP.

Within the Conservatory, first year students enrol in a basket of different modules across their respective majors. With regards to the grade-free first semester, the following scheme has been established to maximise the grade-free option for up to 20 MCs whenever possible across two semesters instead of only one semester. The global rule of a maximum of carry forward 8 MCs to Semester 2 applies to all cases.

Strings

For String students including the harp majors, you can S/U MCM1 and CAM1. Students who have taken an external module can S/U the module as well. The proposed carry-forward S/U MCs to Semester 2 is 8 MCs, regardless of whether the first-year students have taken any 4 MC external module in the first semester.

Woodwinds, Brass and Percussion

For Woodwinds, Brass and Percussion students, you can S/U MCM1 and CAM1 and another 2 MC module (i.e. First-Year Woodwinds Class for Woodwinds students, First-Year Brass Class for brass students and Basic Mechanics of Percussion for Percussion students).

Students who have taken an external module can S/U the module as well. The proposed carry-forward S/U MCs to Semester 2 is 8 MCs for those students without an external module, and 6 MCs for those students taking an external module in Semester 1. This is because the students who are taking an external module in Semester 1 would already be able to S/U 14 MCs in Semester 1.

Piano and Composition

For Piano and Composition students, you can S/U MCM1 and CAM1. Piano students can also S/U Accompanying 1 and Piano Ensemble 1, and Composition students can also S/U Desktop Music Production and Applied Secondary A. The proposed carry-forward S/U MCs to Semester 2 is 8 MCs for those students without an external module, and 4 MCs for those students taking an external module in Semester 1. This is because the students who are taking an external module in Semester 1 would already be able to S/U 16 MCs in Semester 1.

Voice

For Voice students, you can S/U MCM1, CAM1, Chamber Singers 1 and Diction for Singers 1. For those students without Italian 1 for Singers in Semester 1, the proposed carry-forward S/U MCs to Semester 2 is 8 MCs, and 5 MCs for those students taking Italian 1 for Singers in Semester 1. This is because the students who are taking Italian 1 for Singers in Semester 1 would already be able to S/U 15 MCs in Semester 1.

Recording Arts and Science

For Recording Arts and Science students, they would follow existing University policy as all students would be able to S/U to a maximum of 20 MCs in their first semester in the first year.

Under the new S/U policy, besides the 20 MCs of S/U that can be used in the first year, students can use up another 12 MCs of S/U anytime in their undergraduate career.

In general, these 12 MCs of S/U can only be used on all Level 1000 modules, and Level 2000 modules without a NUS pre-requisite module. The exception to this rule is language modules offered by the Centre for Language Studies, where all levels of modules can be S/Ued.

SATISFACTORY/UNSATISFACTORY OPTION AND THE GRADE-FREE FIRST YEAR SCHEME

For Students Admitted from AY 2016/2017 onwards

The Grade-free First Year scheme, in the form of Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory (S/U) option, aims to provide a supportive and enabling environment for NUS undergraduates to make a successful transition into the academic and social culture of university life. It serves to facilitate a transformation in a student's mindset towards grades and learning in the university setting, as well as to enable students to leverage opportunities for a holistic education. The Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory (S/U) option is also intended to encourage students to pursue their intellectual interests, without undue concern that exploring a new subject area may adversely affect their CAP.

Under the S/U mechanism, letter grades are assigned to modules. Students may choose to retain the letter grade and have it factored into the computation of their Cumulative Average Point (CAP), or choose to exercise the S/U option on a module, in which case the letter grade will not be shown on the transcript nor computed towards the CAP.

An 'S' grade is assigned if a student receives a 'C' grade or above for the module. Conversely, students will receive a 'U' if the grade obtained is lower than a 'C' grade. Students will receive credits towards the degree only if they attain a 'Satisfactory' (S) grade.

The S/U declaration exercise will be conducted upon the release of examination results and will end by the stipulated deadline, which will be announced each semester. Students will exercise their S/U option during this period for any module that permits the S/U option. Thereafter, the student's decision will be considered final.

Students admitted from AY2016/2017 onwards are allowed to exercise the grade-free option to a maximum of 32 MCs at first-year level. After the first-year, any unused MCs to a maximum of 12 MCs may be carried forward and applied at any stage during the second through fourth years of study.

Once an 'S' or 'U' grade is assigned to a module, it will count towards the 32-MC limit that can be taken on an S/U basis.

Please note that for the BMus degree, the following Major Study modules are not eligible for the Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory (S/U) option at any time:

- MUA1161/1162, MUA2161/2162, MUA3161/3162, MUA4161/4162
- MUA1190/1191, MUA2190/2191, MUA3190/3191, MUA4190/4191

3.2.5.4 Special Consideration During Examination

A student whose performance in an examination has been affected by illness or other causes may apply for special consideration. Such causes may include:

- Debilitating illness or psychological condition (e.g. hospitalisation, serious injury, severe asthma, high fever, severe anxiety or depression).
- Bereavement in the immediate family - this normally refers to the loss of parent, grandparent, sibling, spouse or child.
- Serious trauma (e.g. victim of crime, accident or disaster).

Ailments that do not affect adversely a student's performance in an examination (e.g. slight cold, sore throat, headaches or mild discomfort alone) normally will not constitute sufficient reason for special consideration to be granted.

To apply for special consideration during an examination, the student is required to fill in an "Application for Special Consideration Form" which may be downloaded from the NUS Student Portal at:

<https://myportal.nus.edu.sg/studentportal/academics/all/docs/Special-Consideration-Form.pdf>

The assessment of the medical condition may only be accepted if it is done by a medical practitioner registered with the Singapore Medical Council (SMC). Traditional Chinese Medicine practitioners are not registered with the SMC and their assessments will not be accepted. For consultations at the University Health Centre (UHC), the form will be forwarded directly to the Conservatory Academic Affairs Office.

Notwithstanding the above, the Board of Examiners will review each case and its decision on the causes to be taken into consideration shall be final. The submission of this application does not guarantee that an Incomplete (IC) grade will be granted.

3.2.6 Selection Criteria for Dean's List

In recognition of outstanding achievements in each semester, top students are selected for inclusion on the Dean's List.

The selection criteria are as follows:

1. Full-time status in the undergraduate programme. All full-time Conservatory students must be registered for at least 18 MCs per semester.
2. Semester Average Point (SAP) calculated based on all modules attempted in the semester.
3. Must not have failed or received a U (Unsatisfactory) grade in any module taken during the semester.

The Conservatory reserves the right to review the criteria for the Dean's List.

3.2.7 English as a Second Language

First-year international students whose native language is not English are required to sit for the Qualifying English Test. Students who fail this test will be placed in the appropriate class level for required English language instruction. In some cases, students may be required to undertake some intensive classes in English prior to commencement of studies.

3.3 Guidelines for Applied Major Study and Student Exchange Programme

Scheduling Applied Major Study Lessons

A student should give a copy of his/her class schedule to the teacher when arranging Applied Major Study lessons. Students should give priority to arranging applied major study lessons with their teachers prior to scheduling chamber ensemble rehearsals. Lesson times should not conflict with scheduled classes.

Whenever possible, individual Applied Major Study lessons should be held on the same day every week during the semester. All lessons, including make-up lessons, should be scheduled on weekdays whenever possible.

Students must not receive tuition in relation to their major study from any other source unless their major study teacher has agreed to this.

It is not recommended for Applied Major Study teachers to schedule regular lessons on Sundays.

Change of Applied Major Study and Major Teacher

Students requesting for a change of Applied Major Study must submit a request to the Director through the Conservatory Student Affairs Office and qualify through auditions with the appropriate faculty.

Students may request their preference for a teacher at the the beginning of their course of study and may be assigned to their teacher of choice wherever possible. However, if the preferred teacher's studio is full, or if the preferred teacher cannot accept the student, the student will be assigned to other available teaching studios.

If a student has compelling reasons to change to another Applied Major Study teacher during the course of study, the student should discuss the intention with the major study teacher and the respective Head of Department first before seeking the permission with the Conservatory Director, through the Conservatory Student Affairs Office.

Accompanying Policy

The Conservatory provides faculty accompanists for Conservatory sanctioned events, major lessons, studio classes, Noon Recitals, SoundBites, Junior and Senior Recitals, Concerto Competitions, master classes and Juries on a limited basis. Arrangements must be made through the student's Applied Major Study teacher with a member of the Conservatory accompanying staff.

While student pianists are encouraged to work with their fellow students in duo contexts, they must receive permission from their piano teacher prior to making a commitment to accompany any student.

Students must notify the accompanists well in advance of any performances in which services of the accompanists are needed.

Students have to provide the accompanists with piano scores at least one month before the first rehearsal.

Before each rehearsal, students are required to know their individual parts as well as the piano and/or orchestral parts. Unprepared students will be dismissed from rehearsals.

Students are required to maintain a professional demeanour and attitude with the accompanists at all times. Punctuality is mandatory.

Failure to comply with the above policies will result in cancellation of the rehearsal. If, due to unforeseen circumstances, students were to be late or rehearsals needed to be cancelled, accompanists must be informed immediately. A student forgetting to attend a rehearsal will be reported to the respective major teachers as well as to the Head of Department.

Any activity not related to the Conservatory (such as international competitions, outside performances, auditions, and recordings for personal usage) must be approved by the respective major teachers, and in compliance with Conservatory policy. Any services rendered by accompanists for such events will be charged accordingly. Recordings of all sorts will be charged accordingly as well.

Jury Requirements

Students who are registered for Applied Major Study must perform a jury for the departmental faculty. First year students will perform the jury at the end of each academic year, while the 4th year students will perform their senior recitals at the end of each academic year. For second year students, they will perform the jury at the end of the first semester of each academic year. Likewise, third year students will perform their junior recitals at the end of the first semester of each academic year. Young Artists who are not registered for Applied Major Study to receive credits must also perform a jury at the end of each academic year. There are specific requirements for jury examinations set by the individual studio teachers. All students are expected to know the requirements for their departmental juries and to check for updates with their teachers. Jury grades will be counted towards the overall assessment for the Applied Major Study for the semester.

Students who are not able to perform juries due to illness, injury, or approved absence will have to take a make-up jury during the first week of the following semester. The Academic Affairs Office must be contacted prior to examination week.

Recitals

Recitals are a vital part of the performance-based degree programme at Yong Siew Toh Conservatory.

Third-year students would normally undertake a Junior Recital: in exceptional circumstances, they may be allowed to perform an end-of-year jury subject to the approval of the relevant Head of Department and on the recommendation of the Applied Major Study teacher. The length of the Junior Recital must be 25-30 minutes of playing time with no intermission.

Fourth-year students must perform a Senior Recital to fulfill the graduation requirements. The Senior Recital must be 50-55 minutes of playing time, with the total duration of the Senior Recital including intermission not to exceed 65 minutes.

Each student may have a one-hour (Juniors) / two-hour (Seniors) dress rehearsal on the Concert Hall stage. The Concerts & Events Office schedules the dress rehearsal on a first-come, first-served basis.

Heads of Department are responsible for the selection of jury members, which will include a full-time Conservatory faculty member. The comments from the panel members will be released to the student about three days following the recital. Heads of Departments are responsible for ensuring the quality of student performances in all recitals.

Grading

Students must attain a minimum C grade for Senior and Graduate Recitals to pass. Students who fail to attain the minimum grade must reschedule the recital.

Repertoire Requirement

There is no specific repertoire requirement except that works should be selected from what is generally regarded as recital repertoire (i.e. music for solo instrument or with piano). Arrangements, particularly concertos, should only be performed where the instrument concerned has a limited range of recital possibilities. The memory requirements for recitals are the same as would be expected in a professional context. Instrumental performances, particularly in wind and brass would benefit from the added projection and communication in a performance with the absence of a music stand. Students are encouraged to memorise the music and should plan their Senior Recital repertoire at an early stage to give time for proper preparation. When a performer begins to play from memory after using music, the stand should be moved well away and turned away from the audience.

Complete works should normally be selected – credit is given for a group performance only when the performance is of equivalent or higher standard compared with the rest of the programme. A weak group performance can detract from the grade. When chamber music is programmed, the recitalist must take the lead in the group and should not be overshadowed by guest musicians. Performances should not result in a party atmosphere, which is inappropriate in a Senior Recital context, as such performances inevitably have to be disregarded in assessment.

Concertos should not normally be included in Senior Recital programmes, but if included they must be played from memory unless otherwise indicated in the individual instrumental syllabus.

Recital Dates

The Academic Affairs Office, in consultation with the studio faculty schedules, will determine the recital dates. Dates will be allocated by 1 November with all recitals to be scheduled in March or April the following year.

Cancellation of Recital

Students may only seek approval from the Conservatory Director through the Academic Affairs Office to cancel a recital in cases where there is documented injury, illness, or emergency. In such situations, the recital may be cancelled without a fee. The student may reschedule the recital depending on the availability of the remaining recital dates/times.

Programme Information

The programme must be submitted to the Concerts & Events Office at least two weeks before the scheduled recital. An Arial 12-point font size typed programme and typed programme notes (A4 size paper, maximum 2 pages) must be emailed to the Concerts & Events Office as part of the submission. The programme should fit within one side of the page and there is no need for the movement headings to be repeated in the notes. The programme notes are not graded but are a mandatory part of the recital examinations.

Stage requirements for piano, music stands and chairs should be clearly indicated in the Programme Form. Once the Programme Form has been submitted, a S$25 fee will be charged for any changes.

Programme Notes

All recital students should write concise programme notes for the works they are performing. These notes should consist of approximately 5 to 6 lines for each work, generally including the following information:

- The composer's dates (in the heading)
- The arranger's name
- The date of the composition
- The reason the composition was written
- A brief description of the movements (i.e. dance style, fugal, lyrical melody, contrasts, etc.)
- The reason for an arrangement, and who is responsible for it (if applicable)

Programme notes should not include:

- A general biography of the composer
- A survey of all of the composer's works
- An elaborate harmonic and/or formal analysis of each work
- A description of orchestral colour
- A thank you section to all and sundry
- Identifying all the difficult bits of the work

The recitalist's name should be mentioned on the inside page of the programme. Staff pianists and additional performers (e.g. a conductor, singer or unseen operator of electronics) should be credited properly. For performances that include a chamber group, all the names of the performers including the main recitalist must be included.

Students are reminded that plagiarism is an act of academic dishonesty which the University does not condone. Students should take the opportunity to produce original programme notes and materials to demonstrate an honest intention to show a personal reaction to the music.

Student Exchange Programme

As part of the collaboration with the Peabody Institute of the Johns Hopkins University, students enrolled in the Bachelor of Music (Honours) Degree programme at the Conservatory have the opportunity to apply to spend one academic semester undertaking equivalent studies in Peabody.

Currently, exchange partnerships exist with the Hochschule für Musik, Theater und Medien Hannover (Germany), Hautes écoles de musique de Genève (Switzerland), Hautes écoles de musique de Lausanne (Switzerland), Sibelius Academy (Finland), Koninklijk Conservatorium te Den Haag (Netherlands), Royal Conservatoire of Scotland, Peabody Conservatory (USA), Queensland Conservatorium, Griffith University (Australia) and Mahidol University (Thailand).

Beyond exchanges with higher education institutions, YST is also evolving a range of international professional development partnerships, most notably with the Shanghai Orchestra Academy, Suntory Hall Chamber Music Academy and the Hangzhou Philharmonic Orchestra.

Students selected for the exchange programme will enrol in classes in the partner university, and receive only credit transfers towards their graduation requirements in the Conservatory.

Course Selection and Transfer of Credits

Students embarking on the Joint Degree Programme or exchange programme should map their modules before going to Peabody. Students can approach their respective faculty year mentors for advice on the modules they should take to fulfil their academic requirements. Please submit the Study Plan Form (obtainable from the Academic Affairs Office) for approval at least two weeks before departing for Peabody.

The Academic Affairs Office will advise students whether the modules they choose to take at Peabody can be mapped back to NUS.

For students on the exchange programme, only credits for all modules passed at Peabody will be transferred back to NUS. Grades will not be transferred back to NUS.

For students on the Joint Degree Programme, with the exception of major study grades and credits taken at Peabody, all other modules read at the host university will be granted credit transfer without grades at the home institutions.

Fulfilment of Electives in Partner Universities

Students going on the Joint Degree Programme and exchange programme are encouraged to choose music electives from Peabody to fulfil their unrestricted elective requirements (a minimum of 18 MCs). As far as possible, these electives will be mapped back to the Conservatory's music electives.

Students can also choose to take Professional Development (PD) electives (a total of 2 modules, each worth 4 MCs) over at Peabody, which will also be mapped back to the Conservatory's PD electives.

For GE requirements (a total of 5 modules, each worth 4 MCs), students are to note that approval needs to be sought by the University's General Education Committee (GE) to map back a module as a GE module.

Details on how to apply for module mapping may be found on the website:

http://www.nus.edu.sg/gem/about_sep.htm

Students are also free to choose modules taught at The Johns Hopkins University. However, if the modules are not music-related, approval to map the modules will have to be sought from the respective faculties and departments in NUS, depending on the subject area of the module (e.g. students taking language modules will need to seek mapping approval from the Centre for Language Studies). Students should approach the Conservatory Academic Affairs Office for assistance in facilitating the mapping approval process.

3.4 Financial Assistance and Awards

Conservatory Scholarships

The Conservatory awards scholarships based on student's performance at the audition and the needs of the school. The scholarships are renewed on a year-by-year basis for the duration of the student's degree, depending on the student's progress, up to a maximum of 4 years.

Students on scholarship who receive living allowances from the Conservatory should note that they are not allowed to undertake any outside engagements except with the Singapore Symphony Orchestra or other professional ensembles approved by the Director of the Conservatory. Failure to abide by this ruling may cause the student to lose his/her scholarship.

Undergraduates on the Conservatory scholarship that covers living allowance can expect to receive the monthly payment in the middle of each month during academic semesters, except for August which will be paid at the end of the month. Stipend is not posted to students during vacation.

The Conservatory has established a Student Artistic Development Fund through donations from sponsors. This fund will be used to sponsor outstanding Conservatory students to participate in international competitions. The Fund can be used for expenses such as competition/festival fees, airfare, accommodation, ground transport and other incidental expenses. Students can now submit their applications online. For any clarification, they can contact Ms Jenny Lee.

3.5 Performance

The Yong Siew Toh Conservatory offers numerous performance opportunities which form an important element of the Conservatory's curriculum. Students are presented in solo recitals, large and chamber ensembles, as well as masterclasses conducted by distinguished visiting artists.

All events are scheduled by the Concert Office, in consultation with faculty members and the Director. There are no concerts, recitals, or masterclasses scheduled during University vacations, national holidays, reading week, or examination periods.

Concert Attire/Stage Etiquette/Recordings

All students should have their own concert attire.

Large Ensembles

Attire for men:

Black dinner jacket, white long-sleeved shirt, black trousers, black bow tie, black shoes and black socks.

Attire for ladies:

Long, black ankle-length dress, with sleeves of at least $\frac{3}{4}$ length. Instead of a dress, it is also permissible to wear a black blouse with black pants or an ankle-length black skirt. Black court shoes.

Solo and Chamber Performances

For solo and chamber performances, students are expected to dress in a manner consistent with professional practice, taking into consideration the seriousness of the performance context.

The dress guidelines are strictly enforced to ensure that every student presented in concert is dressed professionally. Any student who is inappropriately dressed for a concert may not be allowed to perform in the concert.

Stage Etiquette

Students are required to consult the studio faculty for advice on platform manners and are expected to observe the following basic stage etiquette as follows:

- Stage management should be discussed with the Concerts & Events Office well before the Recital. Movement of stands and chairs should be kept to an absolute minimum and recitalists should ensure that accompanists and helpers (e.g. page-turners) are aware of the importance of the occasion and dress appropriately.

- Students are to make sure that they are at the appropriate entry point of the stage well in advance of the start of the performance (or that stage managers are aware of their whereabouts).
- Students should remember that a performance begins immediately upon entering the performance area and does not end until they leave it.
- Music scores should not be carried on or off stage by soloists unless absolutely necessary.
- Applause should be acknowledged confidently. On entry to the platform, performers should try to avoid crossing in front of each other.

Recordings

Concerts presented by the Conservatory may be audio and/or video recorded for educational and archival purposes. The Conservatory reserves all rights to these audio and video recordings, including the right to broadcast, license, assign, and distribute the recordings in all media for any purpose and without limitation.

Students who wish to review the recordings may do so in the Music Library where the recordings are archived.

Recordings of students' performances at the Monday Noon Recitals will be available on file in the Music Library so that they can review the performances with their teachers.

All faculty and student ensemble performances will be recorded unless a request is submitted otherwise to the Concert Office.

3.5.1 Large Ensembles

3.5.2 Chamber Music

3.5.3 Noon Recital Series/Wednesday Soundbites Series

3.5.1 Large Ensembles

The Conservatory Orchestra and the New Music Ensemble are the largest student ensembles at the Yong Siew Toh Conservatory. Placement auditions are held during the first week of the first semester every year, and are required for all new and returning students. All orchestral majors must be members of at least one of these ensembles. Some students may be assigned to perform in more than one large ensemble.

Participation in the Conservatory Orchestra provides comprehensive orchestral training and performance experience exposing students to a wide range of musical compositions. Each season, the Conservatory Orchestra performs a minimum of four public concerts at the Yong Siew Toh Conservatory of Music with a programme that includes a cross-section of the standard orchestral repertoire and contemporary orchestral literature. The orchestra also rehearses and performs with visiting guest conductors as well as orchestral readings on orchestral works by Conservatory composition students.

The Conservatory New Music Ensemble focuses on works written during the last 40 years. Each season, the Conservatory New Music Ensemble performs a minimum of two concerts. The group's repertoire will include iconic works of international significance, new works by international and Singaporean-based composers as well as first performances of pieces by student composers.

The Conservatory organises a Concerto Competition each year. The Orchestral Final (held in the second semester) is preceded by four Section Finals (Strings, Piano, Wind/Brass/Percussion/Harp, and Voice), which take place in late October. Dates for the preliminary rounds and the finals are announced at the beginning of the academic year.

3.5.2 Chamber Music

The study and performance of chamber music is an essential feature of the Conservatory's curriculum. A semester's work should lead to a public performance by each ensemble. Chamber music masterclasses by visiting artists also take place during the semester.

Students perform in a wide range of ensemble groups from piano trios, wind quartets and brass quintets to percussion ensembles. Chamber music coaching is provided in all faculties by members of the artist faculty and the T'ang Quartet, the Conservatory's Quartet-in-Residence.

All groups must submit their members' names and repertoire to the department co-ordinators below for approval:

Strings

The T'ang Quartet Quartet-in-residence

Ms Yap Pei Ying Orchestra and Ensembles Manager

Winds

Adjunct Assoc Prof Zhang Jin Min Head of Woodwind Studies

Brass

Mr Brett Stemple Head of Brass Studies

Percussion

Mr Jonathan Fox Artist Faculty, Percussion

Piano-based Ensembles

Assoc Prof Albert Tiu Associate Professor, Piano

Ms Yap Pei Ying Orchestra and Ensembles Manager

According to the needs of each ensemble, coaches may space coaching sessions evenly over the semester or concentrate them over a shorter period of time. Every ensemble is expected to set aside regular times for rehearsal each week in addition to their coaching.

When forming groups, the chamber music faculty will make every effort to accommodate ensemble assignments and class schedules to ensure the availability of ample rehearsal time. Every attempt will be made to honour students' group requests, provided that their levels of experience, ability and schedules match favourably.

Students who perform at an exceptional level may take the Advanced Chamber Ensemble module as an Unrestricted Elective.

Chamber music groups have various opportunities to perform at the Conservatory, most commonly in the regular chamber music concerts and in the weekly Monday Noon Recital series.

3.5.3 Noon Recital Series/Monday Soundbites Series

The weekly Noon Recital Series presents a platform for Conservatory students to perform before their peers and the general public. These campus recitals feature a variety of solo and ensemble performances.

Attendance is compulsory for all students throughout the course of the four-year undergraduate programme. Students need to maintain an 80% attendance rate (10 out of 13 recitals) in order to receive a 'S' (Satisfactory) grade.

SoundBites on Mondays offers 3rd and 4th year students and ensembles an additional opportunity to play for slightly longer than in the Wednesday Noon Recital Series. Scheduling for this series is also done as below.

Scheduling

Scheduling of Wednesday Noon Recitals is done through the Concert Office. The Concert Office reserves the right to schedule students depending on the suitability of the programme, venue and time availability. Recitalists are expected to be appropriately dressed for Monday noon performances.

Performance Allocation

Students must identify works to be performed, including their performance duration which must not exceed 10 minutes. The programme should be discussed with the major study teacher prior to submission to the Concerts & Events Office. The major study teacher should also be copied into the email at the time of submission.

Students should submit performance requests by email to Ms Poo Lai Fong at laifong@nullnus.edu.sg (filling in the Noon Recital SoundBites Registration Form), downloadable from the Student Portal) according to the following timetable:

Noon recital proposals for -

August - September: submit by 1 August

October - November: submit by 1 September

January - February: submit by 1 December

March - April: submit by 1 February

Departments will be allocated spaces per period based proportionally on the student numbers in the department. The proportion of spaces works out approximately as follows:

Strings (approximately 3 slots per fortnight)

Wind, Brass and Piano (1 slot per fortnight)

Percussion/Harp, Composition, Voice (1 slot per month)

A small number of spaces (3 slots per month) will also be held for ensembles, which will be nominated by the Ensembles Office in consultation with ensemble co-ordinators.

Allocation of spaces will be at the discretion of the relevant Head of Department but normally students would only be assigned one slot per year in noon recital. Students are to note that dates selected within the period being assigned (e.g. August to September) will be at the discretion of the Head of Department.

Any additional spaces (i.e. not taken up by the designated department) will be allocated from reserve players selected by the Heads of Department.

For the first series of concerts (i.e. August to September), the first two concerts will be by invitation, linked to the results achieved in juries or junior recitals in the previous semester. Students chosen for these two concerts will still be eligible to apply for a noon recital slot during the course of the year.

The SoundBites series is held in the Orchestra Hall at 12:15pm on Mondays. Students interested in performing in this series are welcome to submit an application to laifong@nus.edu.sg, using the same form as for Noon Recital. Each student/chamber group may propose a 20-minute repertoire with each SoundBites featuring two performances. Students are required to submit a Registration Form, approved by their Major Study teacher with the finalized repertoire, which will be featured in the Concert Calendar.

Piano Accompaniment

Students who require piano accompaniment should approach their respective applied major study teachers for arrangements for faculty or student accompanists.

Changes to Repertoire

Students should inform the Concert Office of any changes made to repertoire or performance date no later than one week before the scheduled performance.

The Concert's & Events Office will confirm students' Monday Noon Recital time at least one week in advance of the performance date.

Rehearsals

Rehearsals for Wednesday Noon Recitals take place in the morning on the day of the recital. Rehearsal schedules are sent to each Conservatory faculty member as well as posted on notice boards a week prior to the recital. Students are advised to check the notice boards regularly for updates and to report punctually to the venue at the scheduled rehearsal times. In addition, it is the student's responsibility to notify their teacher(s) in advance if classes are to be missed. Failure to notify the teacher(s) will be considered an unexcused absence.

Cancelling a Performance Date

Students who are unable to perform at a Wednesday Noon Recital due to extenuating circumstances must notify the Concert Office no later than two weeks prior to the Noon Recital date.

4.1 Overview

Starting from AY 2014/2015 onwards, the Conservatory is introducing the Masters of Music degree, with particular specializations in three main areas:

- instrumental (orchestral instruments and piano)
- conducting
- composition

This degree, with a duration of two years full time, is open to all qualified Singaporean candidates (both Singaporean Citizens and Permanent Residents will be considered.) The degree includes an annual enrolment of approximately 6 students per year - 12 students at steady state - and is targeted particularly at the following Singaporean candidates:

- Those just completing a qualifying Bachelor of Music degree in Singapore
- Those returning to Singapore after completing appropriate university-level studies overseas
- Current Singaporean music teachers with a strong capacity in one of the major study areas who wish to upgrade and advance their professional qualifications.

4.2 Goals and objectives

The Conservatory's goals for the Master of Music degree are threefold:

1. to promote higher level music study in the individual's major study area (i.e. instrumental, conducting, composition);
2. to develop both instrument-specific and group pedagogical capacities relevant to both the Singaporean and international music education communities;
3. to develop ancillary professional studies to complement the performance and pedagogical studies needed for success in the music industry.

4.3 Student Learning Outcomes

Students in the Master of Music programme will be expected to acquire:

- a high level of practical performance competence in their major study instrument, conducting, or composition
- a deeper knowledge of musical interpretation and performance, keeping in mind the stylistic features which define various musical traditions
- experience with high level involvement in chamber, choral and / or orchestral music contexts, in many cases playing leading roles of responsibility in the various ensembles (i.e. first chairs in the relevant orchestra section, etc.)
- an understanding of a range of fundamental approaches to music pedagogy from both a theoretical and practical perspective
- professional development experience in a wide range of performance and teaching contexts
- the ability to teach music in a variety of solo and ensemble settings

4.4 Structure of the programme

MASTER OF MUSIC DEGREE PROGRAMME

The Master of Music Degree is a two-year, full-time programme of study designed for those just completing a qualifying Bachelor of Music degree in Singapore; or returning to Singapore after completing appropriate university-level studies overseas; or current music teachers with a strong capacity in one of the major study areas who wish to upgrade and advance their professional qualifications. 4.5 Student Admission

Student admission will be determined through a combination of audition and interview with each candidate, making sure to determine if the combined music performance and professional studies programme is appropriate for the goals and aspirations of each applicant. Applicants generally will need to have successfully completed a Bachelor of Music or equivalent degree from an approved institution of higher education in music.

Those students who have completed either the BMus course at YSTCM, or an approved BMus course at an accredited institution of higher education, and have completed their undergraduate degree with a CAP result equivalent of 3.5 or higher, may have up to 20 MCs credited toward the first semester of their Master of Music degree. These “fast-tracked-entry” students will be required to complete 60 MCs in approved modules over 3 semesters, the successful performances of all juries and recitals, and maintain a minimum CAP of 3.0 in their degree.

4.6 Examination / Assessment

The MMus degree will take advantage of continuing assessment in the performance, composition and pedagogical/professional development components of the curriculum. For the performance/composition component, each student will be assigned a major study teacher in their relevant performance study area and will meet on a one-on-one basis at least once weekly during the course. The major study teacher will supervise all aspects of the performance/composition portfolio for the student and provide assistance and advice with all issues related to the course.

Students will have two smaller-scale juried performance events (in the first and third semesters of enrolment) and two major recitals (in the second and fourth semesters of enrolment) for the assessment of their practical performance component. In addition, regular practical and theoretical projects and examinations will take place throughout the degree to support the performance and professional development instruction.

The professional studies modules will also incorporate continuing assessment, including regular classroom projects as well as “in field” experience (i.e. student teaching rounds, internships with various professional ensembles, etc.)

Students will also be assessed in their teacher training activities, both with Conservatory students as well as those in local Singaporean high schools where the Conservatory has a ongoing relationship in the professional development of undergraduate students at YSTCM.

4.7 Continuation and Graduation Requirements

Students will be expected to maintain a minimum CAP of 3.0 during their enrolment in the MMus degree. To continue in the MMus programme, a student may not have: 1) CAP below 3.0 (but greater than or equal to 2.5) for three consecutive semesters; or 2) CAP below 2.5 for two consecutive semesters. Students will be required to have a minimum 3.0 or higher CAP result to be eligible to graduate.

Students will graduate from the MMus degree after the completion of all the requirements of the curriculum, including 80 MCs in approved modules (or 60 MCs for “fast-tracked-entry” students), the successful performances in all juries and recitals, and maintain a minimum CAP of 3.0 in their degree.
