Appendix A – Nomination Criteria

Basic Information

Nominations are sought for the position of Fellows for the NUS Teaching Academy. The elected Fellows will be appointed for a period of 3 years with the possibility of renewal for another 3-year term.

Nomination Criteria

The nominees must be full-time faculty members who have been with NUS for at least 3 years as of 1 August 2020. In addition to the above basic requirement, the nominees must fit one or more of the following criteria:

- Nominees must have a proven track record of using innovative approaches (e.g., technology, curriculum, cases, debates, demonstration, etc.) to extend the range of pedagogical possibilities through which students are able to learn more effectively. A strong, sustained and demonstrated passion for Teaching and Learning is expected.
- Nominees should have contributed (and continue to contribute) significantly to the professional development of junior faculty members or colleagues.
- Nominees must have played a key role in developing unique (internationally recognized) programmes of study or Teaching and Learning models.
- Nominees should have a vision on how the higher educational landscape will evolve over the next several years and be capable of guiding projects and pilot studies that will keep NUS education relevant and vibrant.
- Nominees should have a sustained interest in pedagogy outside the university, and have shown interest in connecting learning in the university to engagement in society.

Crucially, the nominees should embrace inquiry-based teaching, and demonstrate (strong potential for) educational leadership. The rationale is that NUS emphasises teaching practices that positively impact student learning processes and outcomes, and educational leadership, e.g., spreading such good practices through sharing. In determining one's teaching impact, inquiry into one's students' learning is necessary; for educational leadership, going public with one's teaching is essential. For instance, an educator should systematically investigate his/her impact, rather than basing it simplistically on student feedback scores. Likewise, he/she should view educational leadership as systematically sharing practice beyond, e.g., enrolling in committees, as NUSTA is meant to be all about educational leadership, e.g., teaching mentoring.

Nominees should possess informed views relating to such ideas as:

- (a) adopting scholarly/research-informed educational practices;
- (b) tracking and reflecting on student learning processes and outcomes;
- (c) measuring teaching impact;
- (d) developing educational leadership (e.g., sharing best practices, becoming teaching mentors).
